Profile

I'm 28 years old and currently living and working in Berlin as a frontend developer and visual designer. I got extensive experience in software development in general and like to work with innovative web technologies. As an engineer I like to solve problems in efficient fashion but at the same time care deeply about good technical as well as visual design. I'm eager for learning new ways of problem-solving and increasing my knowledge in technologies and workflows. I value good thoughts and ideas and like to be surrounded by a motivated and result-orientated team.
